Synopsis :

Review “The Northouse text offers students and faculty an appropriate text for a Leadership survey course. Students will greatly benefit from the text’s ability to apply the concepts of leadership to their individual lives.” (Jane Murtaugh)“The interactive activities bring the book to life. The clear, consistent structure facilitates navigation and supports learning.” (Peter Hammond)“The Intro to Leadership book + eBook is a winning combination. The explanation of principles is straightforward, the self-assessments are thought-provoking, and the new media tools in the eBook are stimulating” (Leon Fraser)“A must read for adapting individual strengths to enhance one’s leadership capacity” (James L. Morrison)“Northouse’s advice to students on handling conflict is the most immediately practical and useable that I have encountered. This book is highly readable and engages the student immediately.” (Terry Mullins) Read more About the Author Peter G. Northouse, PhD, is Professor Emeritus of Communication in the School of Communication at Western Michigan University. In addition to publications in professional journals, he is the author of Leadership: Theory and Practice (now in its seventh edition) and Introduction to Leadership: Concepts and Practice (now in its third edition) and coauthor of Health Communication: Strategies for Health Professionals (now in its third edition). His scholarly and curricular interests include models of leadership, leadership assessment, ethical leadership, and leadership and group dynamics. For more than 30 years, he has taught courses in leadership, interpersonal communication, and organizational communication to both undergraduate and graduate students. Currently, he is a consultant and lecturer on trends in leadership research, leadership development, and leadership education. He holds a doctorate in speech communication from the University of Denver, and master’s and bachelor’s degrees in communication education from Michigan State University.
